Dear Mr. McDonald,

I recently reviewed several pieces of anti-Union literature handed out to employees at the St. Joseph campus. I cannot even begin to explain my personal disappointment. If this is how you feel about Unions, I would offer that instead of discussing it in captive audience meetings with employees, you openly hold a public debate with CWA. You can “inform” the employees of the “truths” about Unions and becoming Union members. We would be able to counter your “facts” and we both would be able to answer questions from the employees. The employees will then be able to make a truly informed decision, which is what all of us really want.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

John E. Klein, President
